Vile Victorians

The Victorian era was from 1837 to 1901. This is the time Queen Victoria became queen, until she died. This was over 100 years ago. That means no one living now will remember the Victorian era. However we know what life was like then because people wrote about it and even took pictures. We can even see the buildings they built!

Be a mini historian in your home! Speak to the people in your family. What year were they born? What memories do they have? How were things different, compared to life now?
