Writing

Design a board game and write a set of non-fiction instructions to go with it.

Include time adverbials (first, next, then, after that, finally) as well as imperative verbs (bossy verbs) that explain exactly how to play the game.

When you have written your instructions, make the game and play it with your family.

Your board game could be linked to maths, science or even our new history topic!

Insect Explorer

In your garden, go on a bug hunt. Which creepy crawlies can you find? Can you sort them into different groups?

Try draw some of the creatures that you find?
